

Apple Press Rental Contract:

The apple press is owned by The Good Food Collective -- a Durango-based non-profit organization working to reestablish an intact food system in La Plata & Montezuma Counties-- and managed by the Animas Valley Grange. The apple press will be rented out by The Animas Valley Grange or Good Food Collective for personal use under the following terms:

Daily rental rate: $50. Payable to the Animas Valley Grange. Renters are welcome to press apples at the Grange or transport the press to another location. If the latter, renters are responsible for the safe transport of the press to and from the Grange.

Deposit: $150. This deposit will be held by the Grange until the press is returned clean, undamaged, and without any missing parts. Please leave your credit card information below. If you do not have a credit card, please prepare a separate check in that amount.

Cleaning fee: $25, if the press is not returned clean. This will be deducted from the deposit.

Repairs and missing parts: Any damage and/or missing parts, such as press bags, etc., are the responsibility of the renting party. If repairs are necessary, costs will be deducted from the deposit. If the press is inoperable, maximum repair cost will be $1,500, which is the cost to replace the press.

The renter is responsible for knowing how to operate the press and assumes all liability for its operation. The renter acknowledges that the press creates fresh, unpasteurized juice and is aware and takes responsibility for all risks associated with byproducts of the press. The renter agrees to hold the Good Food Collective and Animas Valley Grange free of all liability associated with the rental, operation, and by products of the press. The press is for personal use only and is not intended for commercial use or sharing.

The Renter agrees not to pick up, use, or return the press if they have any COVID-19 symptoms.

Statement by Renter:

I understand and accept the terms of rental, as stated above.
